'Sham wedding' duo were 'back at work in 30 mins'

Three deny charges relating to immigration laws

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@lutononsunday.co.uk

TWO 'newly-weds' didn't hang around to celebrate for long after exchanging their vows, a court heard.

After the ceremony at the Indian restaurant where Polish bride Dorota Wysocka, 45, and Bangladeshi groom Mohammed Razul Miah, 35, were employed, some guests were surprised when within 30 minutes of the meal, the pair were back at work in the restaurant's kitchen, a jury heard.

But it was claimed at Luton Crown Court on Thursday that it was evidence that what had in fact taken place was a 'sham marriage' to allow the groom to remain in this country, organised by restaurant manager Mr Gyash Uddin.

Mr Uddin, 39, from Ivy Road, Luton, Mohammed Razul Miah, of the same address and Mohammed Dolon Miah, 29, of Spencer Road, Luton, all plead not guilty to charges alleging that they conspired to facilitate a breach of immigration laws by non-EU citizens.

The prosecution claim Mohammed Razul Miah is Mr Uddin's brother-in-law. Mohammed Dolon Miah is Mr Uddin's nephew.

Prosecutor, Will Noble, told the court that the case concerned a series of sham marriages between Polish or British nationals and Bangladeshi nationals who have either entered the United Kingdom illegally or have entered on visas that have expired or are close to expiring.

It is alleged that between 2003 and 2010, Gyash Uddin dishonestly facilitated the entry into the UK of family members from Bangladesh in a bid to secure them permanent residence in the UK.

It was claimed Uddin conspired with others to arrange sham marriages for those family members to European nationals who worked for him at Indian restaurants that he owned or ran, including Moja in Leighton Buzzard, which is where the aforementioned wedding reception is said to have taken place.

The Court heard that suspicions about the legitimacy of the wedding between Mohammed Razul Miah and Dorota Wysocka were aroused in December 2010, when the pair attended Milton Keynes Registry Office and registered their "Notice of Marriage."

The registrars submitted a 'Suspicious Marriage Report' to the authorities after noticing that the couple were unable to communicate to each other due to a clear language barrier.

On February 19 2011, the couple attended the registry office in Leighton Buzzard, Bedfordshire and undertook a civil ceremony and were formally married, before heading to Moja for a meal.

Mr Noble told the court that a customer recalled: "Most of the other guests were staff and within 30 minutes of the meal the bride and groom were back at work in the restaurant."

Mr Uddin is alleged to have helped the third defendant, his nephew Mohammed Dolon Miah, in his attempt to go through a sham marriage to another Polish woman called Kamila Marta Drozdowska who worked at his restaurant.

In fact the wedding planned for last May didn't go ahead after Drozdowska, 28, pulled out, but in a wardrobe at her flat in Bute Street, Luton, the authorities discovered the same wedding dress worn by Wysocka at her "wedding" the year before.

Mr Uddin pleads not guilty to eight charges of conspiring to facilitate a breach of immigration laws by non EU citizens. Mohammed Razul Miah denies two similar charges and Mohammed Dolon Miah denies three.

Mr Uddin alone denies a charge of possessing a blank Bangladeshi birth certificate for use in fraud.

The jury were told the two Polish "brides" have pleaded guilty to their part in the conspiracy and will be sentenced later. The case continues.

Did you see ‘unprovoked attack’?

POLICE are appealing for two women who may have witnessed an unprovoked attack and robbery to come forward.

The victim, 30, was on his way to work on Monday at 5.15am on Dunstable Road, Luton, when he was approached from behind and assaulted.

When he fell to the floor he was repeatedly kicked before his mobile phone was taken.

The attacker then walked back to his Silver Vauxhall Signum and drove off down Medina Road.

DC Surfaz Hussain said: “This is an unprovoked assault which may have been witnessed by these two women.

“While the victim is unable to describe them, we know they were standing at the bus stop outside Tesco Express and I urge them to come forward as they may be vital witnesses in this case.”

Concerns raised over plans to build on college’s fields

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

AROUND 300 residents gathered at Bushmead Community Centre to demonstrate their opposition to Barnfield College's proposals to build on the playing field.

Under the plans, Barnfield College would construct a replacement college building and move the Barnfield Moorlands Free School to the site on Old Bedford Road. Thirty-nine new homes, an 88-bed car home and new sports facilities would also be built.

Cliff Robertson, who chaired the discussion on Thursday evening said: “No-one here has a problem with the college making improvements to its own buildings - it's the construction on the green space that we object to.

“We need to make sure each and every one of us makes our concerns heard.

“If the proposals get ahead it'll be too late, we'll have lost that land forever.”

Residents voiced their concerns about a dramatic increase in congestion, light pollution from the proposed floodlit pitch and the loss of a community play area.

Councillors Martin Pantling, Rachel Hopkins and Mike Garrett also attended the meeting to share their support with the residents and advise them on the best way of making their objections heard.

Liberal Democrat councillor, Martin Pantling said: “In this area we've got Lib Dem, Labour and Conservative councillors. My hope is that we can put aside political differences and support all of the residents in their fight to protect this land.

“I oppose these plans and particularly the proposals to build on green land instead of a brownfield site.”

Alan Euinton, Interim Principal at Barnfield College, said: “We are continuously investing in our estate for the benefit of our students as well as responding to a demand for more primary school places and homes in the area.

“The proposed development will bring better, more modern and efficient facilities to both those who study and work at the College as well as the local community.

“The improvements to the sports facilities are in response to pre-determined Sport England guidelines and will remain very much open and accessible to the public.

“We intend to work in partnership with the care home to provide much needed training and experience for students across all areas, as well as this facility providing additional local jobs.

“Our extensive on site parking facilities and planned drop off points will ensure there are no parking implications to local residents.

“We are still in a consultation period and committed to listening to and taking on board the opinions of our local residents.”

The application is currently out to public consultation and a decision is expected by the end of September.

Lady Godiva's tour arrives in town

CROWDS were treated to an amazing spectacle on Thursday as a six-metre high Lady Godiva puppet made its way in to the town centre.

She received a noisy and colourful reception despite arriving slightly behind schedule. A parade of schoolchildren, carnival performers from the St Kitts & Nevis Friends Association, Luton Mela entertainers and local musicians were also on hand to greet her.

She then stayed overnight before setting off from Stockwood Park towards London on Friday morning.

Earlier in the day, community centres at Park Town, Hockwell Ring and Raynham Way had organised workshops enabling children to join in the spirit of the event by making medieval swords, masks, shields and outfits.

Linsey Frostick, chair of the Love Luton Working Group, said: “We were delighted to welcome this incredible piece of moving art to the town. It made for a unique experience.”

Clr Mohammed Ashraf, portfolio holder for sports and arts, said: “Not many towns have enjoyed the privilege of hosting Godiva on her journey so we feel very honoured.”

Folklore has it that Lady Godiva rode naked through the streets of 11th century Coventry in protest against excessive taxation, imposed by her husband. Since then, Godiva has been seen as a symbol of justice across the world that embodies play, friendship, respect and courage and values at the heart of the Olympic and Paralympic Games.

The giant sculpture is the centrepiece of ‘Godiva Awakes’, a part of this year's Cultural Olympiad, and is powered by a team of 50 cyclists. It was created by a team of mechanics, artists, engineers and puppeteers from Imagineer Productions.

Rottweiler mauls girl in a 'terrifying' attack

INJURED: Claire Oakley with her daughter Chanel Porter

BY LAUREN ARCHELL
lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

A 10-YEAR-OLD girl was left with serious arm injuries after being mauled by a dog as she played outside with her friends.

Chanel Porter, of Elm Park Close, Houghton Regis, was outside the Nisa Store in Hillborough Crescent on Sunday, July 22, with her older sister Leanne and a friend when a man walked past with a dog.

The canine, which is believed to have been a Rottweiler, started barking and then leapt up at Chanel, before sinking its teeth into her arm and dragging her to the floor.

The dog then mauled the girl before its owner pulled it off the youngster and fled the area.

Chanel was taken to Luton and Dunstable Hospital where she received stitches to three deep puncture wounds on her arm.

Her mother, Claire Oakley, is now appealing for any witnesses of the attack to come forward.

She said said: "Chanel is petrified and won't leave the house."

"She had been looking forward to her summer holidays and playing with her friends but now she won't go outside.

"We have dogs ourselves, but she is really wary of them as well now."

"We want to appeal to anyone who knows the owner of the dog to come forward so that our daughter's mind can be put at rest."

The owner of the dog is described as a white man, in his mid 20s, of skinny build and wearing a white track-suit and white cap.

Investigating Officer PC Matt Garfitt said: "This was a terrifying attack on a young girl who was looking forward to enjoying the summer with her siblings and friends."

"Instead, she has ended up with some really nasty injuries and has been left distraught by the whole incident."

"It is extremely important that we locate the owner of this dog and stop him from allowing the animal to cause further harm to anyone."

If you have information relating to this incident, contact PC Garfitt, in confidence, on the non emergency number 101, or text information to 07786 200011.

Vapour from waste materials found at chemical spill site

FIRE crews were called out to a manufacturing plant on Tuesday after a bag containing chemical material split.

Bedfordshire Fire and Rescue Service attended the incident at the site of Hair Systems Europe on Camford Way, Luton, after an automatic fire alarm was set off at around 4.40pm. However, when they arrived they found chemical vapour emanating from waste material used at the plant which produces products such as hair dye.

A spokesman for the Fire Service said: "We had received a call at around 4.40pm for what we thought was a fire alarm but when the crews arrived it turned out to be a chemical spillage."

"Fire crews put the waste chemicals into a container and that was put into an on-site water storage tank used for chemical storage."

"There were three people on-site at the time but they were checked out by paramedics and no injuries were reported."

"There is no public health risk, no risk of it spreading and no environmental risk."

"It was a small bag that had split and the situation was declared under control at 7pm."

Mum launches appeal to stay in UK

A LUTON-born mum is still hopeful she will be able to appeal a High Court decision to deport her to Lanzarote.

Last week, Luton on Sunday reported that Marie Roche, 33, (pictured) is being forced to leave the country under a European Law, after she fled from the Canary Island with her son to escape a relationship she claims was abusive.

The High Court decided that Miss Roche would have to return to the sunshine island on Tuesday under The Hague Abduction Convention.

She said: "Everything is so up in the air at the moment.

"I've still got to book the tickets to leave on Tuesday, it's the last thing I want to do.

"All my hopes are pinned on an appeal."

Antonio Lopez, of Fernando Scornik- Gernstein solicitors, who are now representing Miss Roche said: "An appeal is definitely possible.

"I have requested the files from her previous lawyer but until I receive them I can't progress with anything."

Luton North MP Kelvin Hopkins has also been made aware of her plight, and has written a letter to the Lord High Commissioner about her case.

Police candidate slams government over force job level

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

ALMOST five per cent of Bedfordshire Police officers have lost their jobs in the past year, according to Home Office figures.

A report states that since March last year, the number of officers in the force has dropped by 4.7 per cent.

And since 2010, 85 officers have been cut from Bedfordshire Police leaving the number of serving police officers at 1,157.

Labour candidate for Bedfordshire Police and Crime Commissioner, Olly Martins (pictured) said: "Labour achieved record police numbers, a 43 per cent drop in recorded crime and a 30-year low in the fear of crime according to the British Crime Survey.

"Now this Tory/Liberal Democrat Government is taking us backwards with a drop of 85 in the number of police officers in the county.

"The figures are now returning to where they were ten years ago.

"For Tory ministers to argue that you can make massive budget cuts and slash the number of police officers without any impact on the front line is clearly ridiculous".

Peter Conniff, chairman of Bedfordshire Police Authority, said: "We have always been clear that as staff account for around 80 per cent of all expenditure, in order to meet the funding reduction on £20m the number of people employed would fall.

"Our priority was to protect frontline policing and through a combination of workforce reorganisation, as the report noted, the proportion of the workforce in frontline roles will actually increase."

The report also shows that just six per cent of officers from Bedfordshire Police are from an ethnic minority background despite the county sporting two large multi-cultural centres.

Only 1.1 per cent of officers in the county's police force are black, 1.5 per cent are mixed race and three per cent are Asian compared to the 93 per cent of officers who are white.

Council clean up after travellers are evicted

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

HUMAN excrement and gas canisters were left in a children's play area by travellers, it is alleged by residents.

Around eight vehicles moved onto the recreation ground in Raynham Way, Luton, on July 26, to the dismay of homeowners in the area.

Although the latest encampment departed the site on Wednesday, there have been complaints that human waste has been left on the grass and in the children's play area at Raynham

Way Community Centre. A member of staff from the centre posted on Twitter: "Have just found out that the travellers on my workplace site have been using the outdoor play area as a toilet, it's full of human waste."

As a result of the travellers being on the site, a number of planned activities at the community centre had to be cancelled last week.

A council spokesman said: "The travellers arrived on July 26, and were evicted by the police using their powers under Section 61."

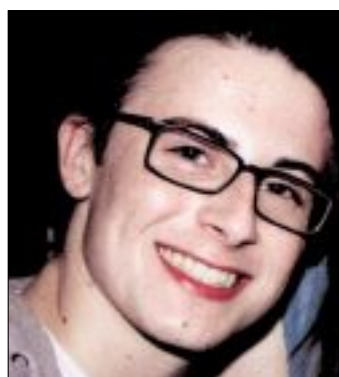

"The council takes the situation of human waste and children play very seriously and arranged for interim clean ups to be undertaken while the travellers were on site to reduce any health risk.

"The Section 61 Order prevents the same group of travellers from returning to this site and a height restriction barrier will be installed."

"The contractor who has inspected the work estimates it will take around a fortnight to make the barrier in the workshop and subsequently install."

"The clean up operation has already been completed, but costs are not known until the invoices are submitted at the end of the month."

Alex has specs appeal in contest

A STUDENT from Luton could be in the frame to win a top modelling contract after being selected from hundreds of hopefuls to become a regional semi-finalist in the Spectacle Wearer of the Year 2012 competition.

Alexander Walter, 19, (pictured) will strike a pose alongside nine specs-wearing fashionistas from across Anglia at the semi-final, to be held at Specsavers in Bedford tomorrow.

Alexander said: "It would be amazing to make it to the final and wave the flag for Luton."

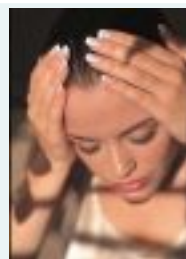

If successful, Alexander could find himself strutting down the catwalk at the glitzy, star-studded grand final at London's iconic Battersea Power Station on Tuesday, October 30.

Specsavers' style ambassador and TV fashion guru Gok Wan will host the evening awards ceremony, while a panel of industry experts will judge contestants' specs appeal.

EDL scraps plans for Islam demonstration

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

THE English Defence League (EDL) have cancelled plans to hold a flash demonstration outside of the 'Discover Islam' centre in Luton later this month.

The group claims that the decision has been made following 'positive conversation' with Lenos Wilson, chairman of The Non Violence Alliance.

Speaking on behalf of the EDL, joint leader Kevin Carroll said: "The reason for our decision is that we have been contacted by an organisation called 'The Non Violence Alliance' who have argued, quite convincingly, that our efforts would be better spent on activities less likely to result in needless confrontation.

"The chairman of the scheme, Lenos Wilson, is a well-respected member of the West Indian Community and we are grateful for any advice that he is able to provide concerning the additional measures that we can take to both safeguard our future demonstrations from violent 'counter protestors' and to ensure that no one who is looking for trouble is attracted to the EDL."

Mr Wilson had first got in contact with the EDL following the Channel 4 documentary 'Proud and Prejudiced." Unhappy with the way that the programme represented Luton, he teamed up with Leeroy Jackson of www.nextuplocal.com and Dennis Riley of Tropical FM to create a new film.

Mr Jackson said: "Our film will be a more representative version of what our town is really like and everyone will have the opportunity to have their say."

"It will include footage from the Mela, the carnival and all the positive things that do go on in Luton."

Anyone wishing to take part in the film should visit www.nextuplocal.com.

Thrifty family in running for award

A COST conscious Luton family is in the running to be crowned Britain's most money savvy, having been shortlisted in the annual Nectar Savvy Family competition.

After more than 1,000 families answered the call to show why their household is the UK's savviest, the Cumbo family (pictured) was selected along with six other finalists to keep an online blog and sharing all their best money saving tips.

Mum, Lyanne, entered herself, partner Stefano and their two children, Luca, 11, and Mia, 8, into the summer competition.

The family with the most unique and useful tips will be rewarded with a selection of prizes including easyJet flights to any destination, a Sainsbury's giftcard worth £500 and £500 from BP to spend on fuel.

Lyanne said: "We hope other families reading our blog can see that being careful with money doesn't have to be boring and can also be quite fun for all involved."

Did Lowe miss the point?

SIR - Regarding Steve Lowe's column in Bedfordshire on Sunday last week, I work at a middle school that is staffed by an amazing set of people who are extremely dedicated, emotionally resilient and care deeply for the children they teach.

The majority of teachers are also parents – does Steve not think that they also are busy 'earning a living and running homes'?

It seems that teachers are 'doomed if they do, and doomed if they don't' [sic].

If Steve doesn't wish to deal with a grumpy daughter for half an hour every morning, trying to 'get her up, dressed and fed', or a loud teenage son banging doors every day – perhaps he shouldn't have had children, or should assume responsibility for their behaviour himself?

The reason our economy is in 'bad shape' is not because of the reasons Mr. Lowe thinks it is – but because many parents in this country are quite happy to hand over the bringing up of their children to teachers, readily berating them when things don't turn out how they would like.

It is much more comfortable to blame the teachers rather than oneself, I guess.

Parenting is hard work, demanding and not always appreciated, but in my experience children really do not want to 'look cool', like Steve's daughter.

We all need to earn money to live, yes, that's life – but we are all very quick to say 'I want a baby', not quite so happy to 'want a teenager'.

If you decide to have a child you are in it for the long haul – stop abdicating the responsibility to others.

We're lucky in that our school has supportive parents despite the tragedies that life throws at them – we consider ourselves to be a team working to raise a child. Mr Lowe would do well to recognise this.

Tracy Hayward
Flitwick

Deal with this here

SIR - Unfortunately, European law overrides British law, even with the case regarding Marie Roche (LoS July 29.)

What happened to the previous extradition treaties between two countries?

Surely this can be dealt with in English law outside of the EU with much less interference.

Lance Richardson
Benson Close, Luton

Cameras everywhere

SIR - I would like to pose the question to all of your readers. Is everybody not sick and tired of being watched and 'snapped' wherever they go?

A fall in crime and officer numbers doesn't work

SIR - I read with interest Steve Lowe's interview with Jas Palmer (pictured), the Tory candidate for Bedfordshire police commissioner, in Luton on Sunday (July 29).

Not only does he seem to think that being in charge of a police constabulary is just like running his sub Post Office but he is supporting the Tory 20 per cent police cuts.

He doesn't see any problem with outsourcing (privatisation) the police even to G4S as he thinks they can get people to work for less money.

What he fails to understand is that you can't cut crime - and the fear of crime - while cutting police numbers.

His Tory government has already cut the number of police in Bedfordshire by 85 according to the Home Office figures with more cuts still to come.

Crime is sure to rise as police numbers drop and was it not the army and the police who had to step in when G4S failed?

Francis Steer
Luton Labour Party

For once this is not a complaint about CCTV. I have had enough of not being able to walk through town without the dull click tones and flashes of mobile cameras or ending up in the background of some 'snap shot' moment.

With tweeting and sharing you can just say where you are, I'm sure your friends won't question the legitimacy of whether or not you're eating a ham and cheese sandwich just because you've not posted a picture, at the same time as inconsiderately snapping the half dozen people behind you who didn't ask to have their picture taken.

In my 48 years I have never really been a fan of having my picture taken and now it seems to be forced upon everyone without the decency of notice to avoid it.

Even worse are the hordes of people walking around claiming to be 'artists' or 'photographers'.

Just the other day I was walking home from work when my first chance to be in the sun in weeks was ruined by someone outrageously calling them self "Jelly Dunne" taking pictures of the street and the clouds in that pretentious manner that only an 'artist' can.

I told him straight, any pictures with me in can be taken off right now, and no I would not 'check out' the rest of his album.

It can't just be me that's bugged by this need to record every detail of our own lives surely?

Rob Alan
Saywell Road, Luton

Bartering's the future

SIR - We should go back to bartering for services, or goods. If you need some work on your central heating, go round to the plumber's house.

Offer to cut his grass and do the weeding, then he can fix your heating.

It's better than money.

We need an alternative payment method.

Especially now that the government have got just plain greedy. You pay tax and NI on your earnings.

Then when you spend your money, you have to pay tax a second time. Using money is a very expensive way to pay for things. Do you need anything painting? I am very good with a brush.

John Tucker
Bracklesham Gardens, Luton

Why the price difference?

SIR - I often visit my home town of Leicester and have noted that the petrol prices charged by the supermarkets there are regularly 4-5p cheaper per litre than in Luton.

This seems a big difference for a place only 65 miles away.

I have written to both Tesco and Sainsbury's about this, but it seems their prices are set according to local levels. This may be so, but I still can't see any reason for such a big price variation.

E. Cockbill
Sundon Park Road, Luton

Help for those with ME

SIR - While many children (and hopefully some parents, too) are enjoying their summer holidays, there are tens of thousands more struggling to cope with the chronic, fluctuating condition M.E. (Myalgic Encephalomyelitis).

Looking after a child with M.E. is stressful for any parent, be it dealing with the demands of the illness, making sure their child still receives an education, or supporting other members of the family, including themselves.

Action for M.E.'s informative new booklet, Your child and M.E. has been developed with advice from parents, healthcare professionals and the Association of Young People with M.E.

Anyone caring for someone with M.E. can also join our Carers Forum at www.actionforme.org.uk/forums.

Comments on the stories on our website this week:

EDL leader stands for top cop role

■ Why does the above read like a promo for the EDL? How about some details of extremist and criminality? Wendy Jones

■ A plea for details of extremism and criminality with regard to Mr Carroll's candidacy I would suggest that no evidence has been submitted by any media source for the simple reason that none exists. Kevin Carroll was found guilty of a public order offence. His 'crime' was telling a group of Muslim protesters exactly what he thought of them when they attended a 'homecoming' march by the local Anglian Regiment in Luton where they carried banners with the message, 'Butchers of Basra' and 'Baby Killers'. I wonder just how many millions of Kevin's countrymen and women (especially the mums of those young soldiers) would agree that Kevin, instead of being persecuted for his actions should have been awarded a medal?

Peter Mullins

■ Peter Mullins, thank you for painting a dreamy picture which depicts Mr Carroll as some sort of shining knight on a white horse coming to save the day. The reality is that he has seen an opening and opportunity to profit from inciting racist tensions by taking full advantage of the situation that the rest of society sees its self in...

On a more positive note at least those who are free thinkers will see that the EDL are flapping about trying to keep a name in the media by realising these loony announcements and it's an opportunity I suppose to collect some more donations from the sheep that follow. Gosh

The good, the bad and the ugly laid bare on twitter

JACK Dorsey is in his thirties, worth a fortune and probably has a lot to answer for - but you can judge for yourself...

Tory MP Aidan Burley, rightly or wrongly, got slaughtered for his 'misunderstood' view of the Olympic opening ceremony.

Footballer Rio Ferdinand is facing soccer's bleak over his use of the expression 'choc ice'.

The miscreant who abused Team GB gymnast star Tom Daley for not winning a gold medal in his father's memory was lucky to escape a court.

And the editor of one newspaper has now left his job in the wake of making comments that may or may not have been deemed inappropriate.

Welcome to Twitter, everyone's window on the world, and, judging by the examples above, it would seem the catalyst for self destruction. We can't blame Dorsey for people's indiscretions of course, but when he founded Twitter just six years ago could he really have envisaged how it would change the world?

As you read this some 500 million people are on the social network, exchanging or offering millions and millions of tweets daily. Tweeting has become a way of life, a must have and must do. I remember some who were obsessed by page 304 of BBC's Ceefax on a Saturday afternoon, scrolling pages that used to give the latest Premier League football scores as they happened. Two pages simply revolved for 90 minutes - and I knew people who avidly watched them. Between those long gone days and even higher tech 2012 there has been much to captivate the world.

Facebook, for example, appears to contain the life and times of half the population. Not on Facebook? Then you could almost be a leper. But it is Twitter, allowing an opinion or message limited to 140 characters to not only followers who monitor you, but also retweet to others at the speed of sound, that is likely to bring on a new generation of people suffering from finger and thumb joint ailments. There was a time when contact with celebrities was limited to what you saw in a fleeting tv interview or read about in the newspapers. Now anyone with any street cred is on Twitter, followed by millions and they rarely disappoint when it comes to being interactive.

Last week there was an astonishing spat between two moderately known professional footballers, one gobsmsackingly provided a run down of the other's wife's sexual CV. It was hugely graphic and obscenely unpleasant. Electronically, it ended nose to nose. Face to face you would have got short odds on a punch up. Of course while people trade tweets of anything from their toilet habits to their marital problems, and react defiantly in millions when a court of law makes an order of silence, there is the tricky problem of how to police it. In the case of the abused Olympian Daley the police quickly moved to find the offender and tell him what for and others have had a surprise tap on their shoulder. But ultimately in the great scheme of things they are piddling in the wind.

Some enjoy the thrill and devilment of Twitter and the misery it may bring them. One lady this week explained how she was excited just waiting for the first "f@#@ off" in response to her previous night's tweet. That's how to live. Right on the edge.

Twitter is a Godsend for media organisations, stories abound and instant news has become, well, even more instant. Two weeks ago I received a picture of a death crash just minutes after it happened. And now we have police and firemen happily sharing their blow by blow accounts of work operations as they go along. The world has never been more exposed. The good, the bad and the often very ugly is laid bare.

But as people like Ferdinand, Burley and many others must now realise, they need to use their 140 characters wisely. Or in the modern era we live in they may want to take heed from a derivative of a catchphrase of former comic Frankie Howerd who MAY have famously uttered 'Twitter ye not.'

Jail for van arsonist

Cyclist kicked off bike

POLICE are appealing for witnesses following an assault on a cyclist on Monday, July 23.

The incident happened at around 10.30am in Luton Road, Dunstable, as the victim, 40, was cycling towards Luton. He was approached by a man who kicked his bike causing him to fall into the road. The offender then kicked, punched and spat at the cyclist who then managed to get back onto his bike and escape.

The offender is described as being a black male, of medium build and was wearing shorts and cream builder-style boots, but no top.

If you have information relating to this incident, call police on the non emergency number 101, or text information to 07786 200011.

DAMAGED: The ice cream van

BY LAUREN ARCHELL

lauren.archell@lutononsunday.co.uk

A MAN was sentenced to three-and-a-half years in prison for arson recklessly endangering life after he set fire to an ice-cream van.

Javed Lal, 43, from Arundel Road, Luton, was arrested on April 19 at Heathrow Airport as he tried to leave the country.

Lal was wanted by Bedfordshire Police in connection with the ice cream van blaze which happened at a property in Oakley Road, Luton, in April.

He was caught trying to flee the country the day before he was due to speak to officers at Luton Police Station.

He appeared before Luton Crown Court on July 9 when he pleaded guilty to the charge and on Wednesday, at the same court, he was sentenced to three-and-a-half years imprisonment.

Speaking after the sentencing, the officer in charge of the investigation, Detective Constable Helen Howson, said: "This incident could have ended in a family, including small children, being seriously injured, as the fire was so hot it caused significant damage to the windows at the front of the property forcing the family to take refuge in the back garden where they were trapped until the Fire Service were able to extinguish the blaze.

"Lal tried to abscond from the UK to Pakistan and his arrest and subsequent charge shows how successfully the Police Service and other security services work together.

"Bedfordshire Police will continue to do all we can to bring offenders to justice and to ensure our communities remain safe."

Muslim police officer

"SOME days are harder than others. I could have a quiet day or I could have a day like I did yesterday where I'm chasing after someone to arrest them. It can be extremely difficult."

PC Sajid Saddique, an officer for Bedfordshire Police, says his religion and work can clash while working a demanding job.

Of Islamic faith he, like millions of other Muslims, is currently fasting during the month of Ramadan (where no eating or drinking is to take place between dawn and sunset with its purpose being to cleanse the soul by freeing it from harmful impurities).

He adds: "A lot of people don't realise you're fasting. They think 'Oh, we have an officer there' can you go to this call or over to this call but that's part of the job and something you have to accept. With the number of officers down it's a lot tougher especially when your energy is low."

PC Saddique says he chose the multicultural climate of Bedfordshire as it reflected similar to his home town of Peterborough.

Three-and-a-half-years into the job he says he is able to share his experience from his Cambridgeshire home on this side of the county border.

"I felt I could offer a lot to the force and often I am selected to go on certain operations because I have that knowledge of Islam and I am able to teach colleagues 'this is why they are doing this' or 'this is why we are doing that'. We had an instance where a man was taken in and I was able to explain to sergeants and officers that certain scriptures were not 'extremism' they were in fact some passages from the Quran.

"At this time of year particularly we may arrest someone who is fasting and I can find out from a suspect when they are able to eat next and inform the custody sergeant so they are aware of that. It's about education a lot of the time."

Easyjet's job lot to aid youngsters

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

ONE of Luton's biggest employers is looking to set ten youngsters off on an aeronautical career.

EasyJet, the UK's biggest airline, will be offering jobseekers a chance to learn about their Advanced Apprenticeship in Aeronautical Engineering which will see successful applicants joining the scheme in November.

An open day is being held on Wednesday at EasyJet's headquarters next to London Luton Airport between 4pm and 8pm, and is being held in partnership with the Resource Group, an international provider of various skills to the aerospace, aviation and defence sectors.

Ian Davies, EasyJet's head of engineering, said: "As a former apprentice myself, I am absolutely delighted to be launching this new apprenticeship scheme.

"Apprenticeships are so important for young people starting out, particularly in the current economic climate which has resulted in the highest youth unemployment for decades.

"We are looking for highly motivated people keen to start a really rewarding career in engineering.

"I look forward to playing my part in helping to train the future generation of aeronautical engineers. The open day on Wednesday is a chance to find out more about the scheme and meet members of our engineering team - many of which were trained through similar apprenticeship schemes - we hope many will take the opportunity to meet with us to find out more."

The scheme is part of EasyJet's drive at addressing youth unemployment and will provide a combination of classroom and practical training.

Those wishing to apply should submit a covering letter and CV to eapprentices@resourcegroup.co.uk prior to the closing date of August 29.

Witness plea after boy's phone pinched

A 12-YEAR-OLD boy had his phone stolen from him by two teenagers.

The victim was walking along Ash Road, Luton, at 9pm on Tuesday while listening to music on his headphones.

He was approached by two teenagers who asked to see what the victim was using to play music, but when he refused the offenders grabbed him and he dropped his black Samsung mobile.

The teens picked up the mobile and ran from the scene towards Maple Road.

LUTON'S BEST 2012 AWARDS

Luton Women's Aid presented with their Keeping Luton Safe title in last year's awards

Say thank you to the stars of 2012

LUTON has had a great year in 2012 and now we are looking to put the icing on the cake with this year's prestigious Luton's Best Awards.

Following the Diamond Jubilee, the historic visit of the Olympic Torch Relay and the Love Luton Festival it is now the time to honour and celebrate our own and recognise those who have been shining stars in Luton during 2012.

Luton is a great place to live, work, study and have fun and this is made possible by the input of the many outstanding people in the community.

So this is your opportunity to say thank you. The awards are for individuals and groups, people working in the public and private sector, organisations and businesses that make an important contribution to the town.

Shortlisted nominees will be invited to the glittering awards evening at The Luton Hoo Hotel on Thursday, November 29, made possible by the support of local sponsors and backed by Luton on Sunday and the LD Express.

Recognising Community Achievement

All nominators will be entered into a free prize draw to win two tickets to the ceremony.

For more information and full criteria contact Sinead McNamara on 01582 546265, email sinead.mcnamara@luton.gov.uk or visit www.luton.gov.uk/lutonsbestawards

MUSIC

ALVIN & THE TRILOGY BAND - THE ULTIMATE ELVIS TRIBUTE

Grove Theatre, Dunstable
Friday, August 17, 7.30pm

HERE is your invitation to experience the music that created a true rock 'n' roll legend.

Featuring the well known and highly respected Elvis Presley tribute artist and entertainer, London West End performer, as well as radio and national television celebrity Alvin Printwhistle, this is the ultimate show experience.

A life-long Elvis fan, historian and enthusiast, Alvin has been performing the works of the king the worldwide for over 25 years.

His attention to visual and vocal detail has elevated him to the status of being regarded as one of the finest Elvis stylists in the UK today.

Elvis himself had a great sense of humour and although it's a 'tribute show', Alvin combines his own unique humour and famed wittiness, together with his sensational vocal talent, to create a show that cannot be compared to any other.

With such strong emphasis on the 'fun' element and the audience being encouraged to participate, the formula for a great night is certainly guaranteed.

The show will feature the 'The Trilogy Band', which comprises hand-picked musicians and highly experienced backing vocalists who perform the arrangements in the exact style of the originals.

Together they create a perfect platform for the extraordinary talents of Alvin in a not to be missed, two part spectacular.

This show will have you Rockin' 'n' Rollin' in the aisles as we celebrate the continuing legacy that is Elvis Presley.

Tickets cost between £15 and £17. You can get them by calling the box office on 01582 602 080.

COMPETITION WINNERS

FIVE lucky people have each won a family pass to Willows Farm Village in St Albans after entering Luton On Sunday's competition.

Marlyn Dias, Colleen Thomas, Ben Small, Maureen Kirchin and Wayne Cartmell will each receive four tickets for a day out at the farm.

Anna Wolfe, farmer at Willows, said: "We had thousands of visitors during the first weekend of Summer Spectacular and are looking forward to welcoming many more families to Willows over the coming weeks – including the lucky winners of the Luton on Sunday competition.

"There will be plenty of activities for them to enjoy including acres of indoor and outdoor play, sports day races, farmyard animals and of course the Willows A-maize-ing Maze.

"The maize crops which form the maze have really shot up after this recent bout of sunshine – we expect them to reach six feet by the middle of summer, so the maze will certainly live up to its name!"

Also, over the last few weeks we've been running a Legally Blonde competition to win four tickets to the show last night as well as an exclusive VIP shopping experience with a personal shopper at Debenhams and much more.

The lucky winner was Mrs Sally Rust. She gave the correct answer of Bruiser to the question 'What is Elle Woods' dog called?'

MINI ROADSTER: MAXI THRILLS

Yet another twist on the MINI theme, the rakish Roadster is based on the Coupe model, offering two seats and a whole lot of fresh air fun, the first real sports car the brand has brought us. Throw back the hood on a sunny day and you'll wonder what can come close.

This certainly won't be the sleekest-looking car of its kind you've ever seen, but the 13-degrees of increased rake in the windscreen does lend it a racier look, especially when the roof's down, with a waistline that rises gently along the body length towards the strikingly stepped rear end that makes reverse parking so awkward.

Despite all this, over the shoulder rearward visibility still isn't the best - but then roadsters were never meant to be perfectly practical, as you'll discover upon seating yourself inside where you'll find that the racier angle of the windscreen leaves the header rail positioned rather closer to your head than you might ideally like. The thickness of this rail might also be an issue for taller drivers, but it's necessary in order to secure the latching mechanism for the single-skin canvas roof. At the onset of inclement weather, you simply press the button that will raise the fabric top in just five seconds. That's ten seconds quicker than the MINI Convertible can manage, but in this case, you do have to manually complete the process at the end by clicking the latch into place. Power comes from the usual MINI engines: petrol-wise, a normally aspirated 122bhp 1.6, then the same unit in turbo form with either 184 or 211bhp in either £'Cooper S or £'John Cooper Works models. There's also a 143bhp Cooper SD diesel variant.

Buckle tells players: Give it all you've got

FOOTBALL

BY MARC BAZELEY

sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

YESTERDAY'S friendly against Leyton Orient gave Luton Town's players the final chance to impress boss Paul Buckle in a match situation and secure their place in the starting line-up for the season opener against Gateshead.

The Hatters chief has some idea of what is his ideal starting 11 for when they take to the field at Kenilworth Road for the first game of the 2012/13 Blue Square Bet Premier campaign, although nothing is set in stone just yet.

Buckle has been impressed by what he has seen from all of the players that have been given an opportunity in pre-season and has some tough decisions to make, saying: "I've got a few in my mind, but there are still places up for grabs."

"The players are doing everything I have asked of them because they are making it difficult for me, and I've got one eye on Gateshead but there are still training sessions ahead for players to impress."

"All I've asked them to do is go out there and give it all they've got whether they are starting or a sub, and they're doing that. That's what we're going to have to do when the season starts."

After being unable to make any changes to the squad, having only taken over from previous manager Gary Brabin towards the end of last season, Buckle has embarked on something of a rebuilding programme over the summer.

No less than nine players have been brought to the club, and although Garry Richards, Danny Spiller and Scott Rendell have suffered various degrees of injury during pre-season, Buckle believes the squad is still strong.

"Everyone that is in the team has got a chance of playing – that is how you get competition for places," he said. "Even Jake Woolley, who I was thinking about letting go out on loan, I don't think I will now."

"He is showing that he can play at this level, he is showing that he can fit in with the good players we have got at this club."

"With the injuries at the moment to Spiller, Richards – and Rendell has got a little bit of a knock – we're quite thin on the ground. But at the same time, it's very healthy, and with the clean sheets we are getting we look very solid in defence."

Young guns need to be set example

CRICKET

BY LANCE CHRISTOPHER

BEDFORDSHIRE have just two games left to turn round what is shaping up to be another disappointing season.

They know that defeat in the Minor Counties Championship match against Buckinghamshire starting at Slough this morning would make them firm favourites to collect the Eastern Division's wooden spoon for the second season in a row.

The return of James Kettleborough and Rob Keogh, both given permission to play by Northamptonshire, should strengthen the batting, but the whole side needs to show much more application if Bedfordshire are to atone for their dreadful display against Cumberland a couple of weeks ago which resulted in defeat by an innings and 110 runs.

There is plenty of talent in the side but it is not playing to anything like its full potential.

Their first target must be to bat for the maximum 90 overs in the first innings – something they have not achieved for more than two seasons.

Bedfordshire will again be fielding a young side – the average age is 21 – and it is time for the senior players to set an example.

Stubbings has attracted some good balls this season but Clayton has fallen far too often to loose shots.

Bedfordshire make three changes from the side thrashed by Cumberland with Keogh, Kettleborough and debutant Afaq Babar replacing Chris Esh, Dan Simpson and Ziggy Arshad.

Barbar, a young paceman, has been attracting attention from Northamptonshire.

Elsewhere, James Kerr keeps his place behind the stumps.

Pervaiz paves way for Haiderys to clinch third title in four years

MIDWEEK CRICKET

LUTON Haiderys capped off their third Luton & District Midweek Cricket League Premier Division title in four years after claiming a 22-run victory over Luton Pakistanis in their final match.

Hassan Pervaiz led the way for Haiderys with 44 as they racked up 135-7 after batting first, with Pakistanis then being bowled out for just 115 in the reply.

The defeated side still have a chance of silverware, though, as they face Luton Majestics in Wednesday's cup final.

Five times Premier Division winners AKCC were relegated to Division One for the first time in their history, despite winning their last match against

CHAMPIONS: Luton Haiderys

Kingsway CC. This was due to an inferior run rate to Lions CC, who lost to relegated Luton Hawks.

Coming up to the top flight for next season will be Division One champions Luton United Stars and Luton CC. The latter confirmed their promotion after beating Luton Saracens by 22 runs thanks in part to Saghir Nazir's 62. Luton made 161-7 before restricting Saracens to 139-7.

Asim Hussain also hit 79 as United Stars ended their title-winning campaign on a high against Shaheen CC. Hussain's score helped them reach 165-5 before Shaheen were dismissed for 131.

Town dream of derby sun

BEDS CRICKET LEAGUE

DUNSTABLE Town will be hoping for good weather for the derby with Lutonian after rain wrecked the chance to extend their lead in the Bedfordshire County Cricket League Premier Division.

They had been due to travel to fellow title contenders Luton Town & Indians, but that match was cancelled without a ball being bowled meaning both sides took just ten points.

With just five matches remaining Dunstable have a slender lead of just five points from Luton Town, with Lutonian very much still in contention to make a late charge.

The weather also robbed Lutonian of the opportunity to close the gap further on the top two, with rain forcing their contest at home to Ickwell to be abandoned just 2.3 overs short of the minimum needed to obtain a result.

Asif Hussain and Ahtaz Ahmed had both taken four wickets each for the hosts at Knebworth Park to help dismiss Ickwell for 183 in 33.3 overs after they had won the toss and chosen to bat first.

Mohammed Haroon then led the Lutonian reply and they looked well set to overhaul the target before the persistent drizzle meant the players were called off with 22.3 overs gone and Haroon stranded on 65 not out.

Buckle up for great opener as new boys champ at bit

FOOTBALL

BY MARC BAZELEY

sport@lntmedia.co.uk

PAUL Buckle is pleased with how his first pre-season in charge of Luton Town has gone so far and believes the squad are shaping up well for the first game of the new campaign.

It is now less than a week before Buckle's new-look Hatters start their 2012/13 Blue Square Bet Premier campaign at home to Gateshead on Saturday.

Nine new faces have moved to Kenilworth Road this summer, and Buckle is delighted with how quickly they have settled, along with the progress made since the start of July.

"We are moving closer to that first game and it has been a great pre-season for us so far," said the Luton manager.

"If you come and look at us where we are, if you had said to me let's take a picture and this is where we are going to be four weeks down the line, then I would have been happy with that because we've got a lot of new faces.

"We're not the finished product yet and the players know that, but what we have instilled at the club is a great work ethic, togetherness, and that's a good foundation to start from.

"I think you have to look at what we have been doing for the last four and a half weeks and I have to say that I'm delighted with the way we are looking.

"The way we are dominating possession is fantastic and, although we are missing the final part, that always takes a while and will come near the end."

Buckle has been particularly impressed with how the back four of new boy Nathaniel Rowe-Turner, Ronnie Henry, Janos Kovacs and Greg Taylor have been performing.

They all featured in the midweek 0-0 draw away to newly-promoted Blue Square Bet North side Brackley Town, with Rowe-Turner at centre-half. And while Buckle was happy with his performance in that role, he feels both he and Taylor will provide a big attacking threat from the full-back position.

He said: "You saw Rowe-Turner at centre half and he did that job at a canter, but he's got great pace and when him and Taylor get up and running on those wide areas they give us an attacking force with [midfielder] Yas [Kasim] sitting. At the same time, if teams do want to try to stick the ball into the box we have got four back there that are all six foot.

"People like Janos and Ronnie keep the team honest, and they attack the ball and clear our lines. Within all our good play, the ugly side is a major part of the game."
